Ron Hutchison

WDD 130

Lesson L05

Creating a Personal Website

I would like to make a website that illustrates my abilities. In my current job I believe that I can advance in my level by making a website the points out what my accomplishments are. I would also like to highlight my learning experiences.

My target audience would be company executives, those who can make decisions regarding my career path. I believe I can show that I can do more.